Policy Statement

Eastern Kentucky University prohibits assignments totaling more than 10% of a total course grade from being originally scheduled during Dead Week.

Graduate courses, lab courses, and practicum courses are exempt from this policy. This policy is not intended to prohibit the completion of coursework and instruction, therefore further exemptions are allowed by the policy in these specific situations:

- Presentations or projects that were scheduled to be due before Dead Week in the syllabus can continue during Dead Week if the presentations have not been completed.
- The final portion of an assignment with incremental due dates can come due during Dead Week if no more than 10% of the course grade is determined by the final portion.
- Courses with a specific focus on presentation or performances can get exemptions on the policy by approval of the Department Chair.
- A professor may move any assignment to Dead Week by the unanimous consent of the class.

Purpose

The Dead Week Policy is designed to create a clear and consistent practice for assignments or grades acceptable during dead week for the mutual benefit of the students and faculty.

Policy Background

Since most students are enrolled in multiple courses each semester, inconsistent assignment practices during Dead Week may cause a student’s workload to become excessive. A well defined Dead Week Policy accommodates student’s ability to manage their work and maintain a high quality of work. Therefore, the University deems it appropriate to establish the following procedures for workloads appropriate during Dead Week.

Since lab course and practicum courses often have no scheduled time during finals week that will not conflict with another scheduled class, they are permitted to give major assignments in the week that precedes Dead Week. Further exemptions of the policy are detailed to facilitate the needs of instructors when required by the structure or nature of the course, or when they cause no additional strain to the students.
