Where Students and Learning Come First!

EASTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY
FACULTY GUIDE
THE DIVISION OF STUDENT AFFAIRS
Dear Colleagues:

As I have traveled to every corner of this country to re-engage our alumni with their alma mater, I can't begin to tell you how many graduates have eagerly shared with me how the Eastern Experience changed their lives. They talk about those memorable classes and special professors, but they remember just as vividly the out-of-classroom experiences that helped acclimate them to college life and adulthood and aided their academic success and personal growth.

Our well-deserved reputation as a student-centered institution stems from our campus-wide team effort to developing the total person — inside and outside the classroom. I am heartened when I see dedicated faculty and Student Affairs personnel working hand-in-hand to provide educational and enrichment opportunities for our students, and I see this often at Eastern.

It is my fervent hope that we never take for granted the winning combination that has made this learning community special for 100 years and will ensure our growth and success for the next century: outstanding academic programs delivered by a first-rate faculty, a passionate commitment campus-wide to helping all our students reach their full potential, and a willingness to roll up our sleeves and work together to do whatever it takes to get the job done. Our students deserve nothing less.

Thank you for all you have done and will continue to do to serve the best interests of our students and of Eastern Kentucky University.

Warm regards,

Dear EKU Faculty,

It is a pleasure to introduce this Faculty Guide to the Division of Student Affairs. It brings to mind for us that American universities from their founding were not instituted solely for the intellectual growth of the young men and women who come to our academic communities. They serve as a transition points for not only the growth of their intellects but for their whole beings. The two elements of the development of the college student are referred to as cognitive growth and affective growth. They are not two isolated pieces but are joined together in a harmonious way to assist the students as they move to new levels of intellectual, emotional, and physical maturity. We as faculty members must be cognizant of this and call upon professionals in our community devoted to the affective growth. They can assist us in serving our students needs just like they call upon our expertise to assist with the intellectual. By working together we will achieve the best for our students.

Please read through this Guide and familiarize yourself with the expertise and assistance available to you to make ours students’ time at EKU the richest and most fulfilling years of their lives.

Thank you.
