

Notes on Writing-Intensive Courses

(taken from <http://associatedeanup.eku.edu/writing-intensive-courses>)

For all writing intensive courses this student learning outcome should be added to the core set of outcomes:

- Demonstrate a writing process that produces effective documents appropriate to course level.
 - Note: This learning outcome MAY be reworded to best fit the course.

Writing-Intensive Courses:

- Do not have to include more writing than non-writing-intensive versions of a course
- Do need to include more feedback to students about writing and more opportunities for students to revise writing based on feedback and submit again.
 - This suggests that at least one draft of all major work should be required, and students should be required to revise according to feedback in order to improve their grade.
